Ridge View Residential College

The College in Nature

National University of Singapore

THE WORLD IS OUR CLASSROOM

RVRC offers students a distinct two-year living-learning experience, aligned with our mission to foster sustainability education and workplace readiness.

All RVRC courses provide hands-on learning experiences to promote stewardship of the environment and society through interdisciplinary education, active community engagement, and critical reflection.

Academic Requirements

RVRC courses map to four of the six NUS General Education pillars:
- Communities and Engagement (RVN)
- Critique and Expression (RVX)
- Cultures and Connections (RVC)
- Singapore Studies (RVSS)

Students read one course from each of the four pillars to fulfil RVRC's programme requirements. Each course carries four units and programme completion is recognised on students' official NUS transcript.

The list of courses offered is available on our website.

Interdisciplinary learning through RVRC courses broadens your undergraduate experience.

RVRC offers courses with overseas study trips to learn about sustainability.

Learning through out-of-classroom fieldtrips is a key feature in RVRC courses.

Industry Engagement

College curates a wide range of exploratory and engagement options for students to network and prepare for their careers. This includes project collaborations with external organisations, industry visits, and dialogues with industry experts and thought leaders.

VIBRANT STUDENT LIFE

Living and learning are closely integrated in the RVRC experience, which places significant emphasis on participation in the vibrant student life.

The numerous opportunities to explore, interact, celebrate, and shine allow students to grow and pursue interests beyond academics.

Signature Events

RVRC's common college experience is defined by three signature events:
- Kayak and Clean
- Walk for Rice
- RVRC Symposium

Together with a suite of other co-academic activities organised by the College, these opportunities are designed to broaden horizons and diversify skills, enabling our students in an ever-changing dynamic world.

Developing Leadership

The College Student Committee (CSC) is RVRC's elected student leadership that aims to bring the entire college community together.

CSC organises and oversees college-wide events throughout the academic year.

CSC is one of the many avenues within RVRC for students to hone their leadership skills and make lasting impacts within and beyond the College.

Pursuing Interests

Interest Groups (IGs) are student-initiated and student-led groups that encompass a diverse range of interests, such as sports, arts, and clubs and societies.

With over 35 IGs in RVRC, students can explore new interests, pursue their passions, and connect with like-minded members in the College community. Participating in one or more IGs is common among RVRC residents.

LIVING ON THE RIDGE

RVRC residents are organised into seven smaller communities called Houses. Each house is supported by a Resident Fellow, Resident Assistants, and an elected House Committee.

Houses are named after rare or threatened animals indigenous to Singapore in line with the College's theme of sustainability.

Residents form another layer of social support network with other residents across different years of study and faculty backgrounds.

RVRC is situated strategically at the heart of the university's Kent Ridge campus. With close proximity to most faculties, residents have quick access to their classes, as well as key student life amenities, including the University Sports Centre and University Health Centre.

Communal block dinners bond residents together.

Each house has a distinct block spirit and a strong sense of belonging.
